

Military Regulations Announced

Men Train with COTC or UATS; Women's War Service Program Given by University

Training Begins October 13

Exemptions And Alternatives Are Listed

The new military regulations of the University were announced yesterday by Mr. T. H. Matthews, secretary for the committee on military instruction. The official announcement is as follows:

1. All male undergraduates who are physically fit are required to undertake the regular military training provided at the University. This training will start on Tuesday, the 13th of October.

2. Exemptions.

The following male students are exempt from the requirement of military training:

- (a) Citizens of neutral countries.
- (b) Married students over 35 years of age.
- (c) Graduate students.
- (d) Partial students.
- (e) Refugees from enemy countries.

(f) Students taking extension or evening courses.

Students in classes (a), (b), and (c) may, at their own request, be permitted to take the training. Students in classes (d), (e), and (f) are ineligible.

Students taking a full year of work in the Faculty of Arts and Science to qualify for admission to the Faculty of Medicine are treated as undergraduates. They must train.

Students with a bachelor's degree who are taking a year of work to qualify for admission to the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research are treated as graduate students. They are not required to train.

Undergraduates seeking exemption from military training under these regulations must apply in writing to the Registrar.

3. Students who are Unfit.

Undergraduates who are declared by the University's medical officers to be unfit to train will be given temporary or permanent exemption certificates by the Department of Physical Education.

4. Alternative Training.

The University Committee on Military Instruction permits students to train with certain other units, e.g., as probationary sub-lieutenants with the R.C.N.V.R.

A student may train with the C.O.T.C. of another college only by special permission, and only if he was a member of this O.T.C. for at least a year before coming to McGill University.

All applications for permission to train with another unit must be made in writing to the Registrar.

5. Choice of Courses

There are special arrangements for students in the clinical years of Medicine and Dentistry. Other students will be divided between three units:

1. C.O.T.C. A wing
2. C.O.T.C. B wing

Dr. Roscoe Will Address Women at R.V.C. Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon at 4.30 p.m., Dr. Muriel V. Roscoe, the Warden of Royal Victoria College, will address the Official Opening of the College.

All McGill women undergraduates are requested to attend. The meeting, which will take place at the R.V.C. Assembly Hall.

This meeting will be the second of which Dr. Roscoe will address this week. This afternoon at 4.00 p.m. she will welcome the Freshettes at the Junior-Freshie tea, which will be held in the Common Room.

All Freshettes are particularly requested to attend these addresses.

McGill Plans Air Training

Air Force Unit Enrolment Opens Immediately

Details of the University Air Training Corps were announced yesterday by Mr. Matthews, secretary of the University Committee on Military Instruction:

1. U.A.T.C.

The University Air Training Corps is a reserve corps of the R.C.A.F. and undergraduates who join the corps will be enlisted and not enrolled as in the past.

2. Branches

In addition to giving Air-Crew Training to men who pass the required physical examination, the corps will also enlist undergraduates in Medicine, Engineering, and pure Science, who, upon graduation, will be qualified for appointment to commission rank in specialized branches of the R.C.A.F. referred to below.

3. Syllabus.

The syllabus will take about 125 (Continued on Page Six.)

Newman Club Will Hold First Dance of Season

The social activities of the Newman Club for the year will be inaugurated by a dance, to be held in the Union Grill Room on Saturday evening at nine-thirty. Music will be supplied by the nickelodeon. The Admission fee is Twenty-five cents a person. Because of the low admission fee, refreshments will not be served. Soft drinks are to be on sale at the refreshment booth.

For the benefit of the freshmen, the Newman Club is an organization composed of Roman Catholic students of this university. Therefore, every Catholic student is automatically a member of the club, and is invited to the dance.

Will Train 4 Hours Weekly

Registration In R.V.C. on Oct. 7 and 8

The following regulations regarding the War Service program for women were officially announced yesterday by the university authorities:

"All women undergraduates are required to be enrolled in the War Service Program for Women in order that they may receive instruction that will qualify them more effectively to undertake the numerous and important tasks which the war has placed on the shoulders of the women of Canada."

Required Course for New Students

All students entering the University for the first time, provided they are medically fit, must register for the First Year course in the War Service Program for Women. Registration will take place in Royal Victoria College on October 7 and 8, from 9-12 a.m. and 2-4 p.m.

COURSES FOR SECOND, THIRD AND FOURTH YEAR STUDENTS.

Students in the second, third and fourth years who have successfully completed the basic course, may select from the options listed below. To meet the requirement they must take alternatives totalling one whole course (2 hours per week) and one course in Physical Fitness (2 hours per week). Scheduled hours for each of the courses offered will be announced in the McGill Daily and posted on the W.S.P.W. Bulletin Board at R.V.C. Registration will be at the same times as for new students.

Commerce Frosh To Have Party

Election of New Officers Will Be Discussed

Commerce Freshmen and Freshettes will be the guests of honour at the first "get-together" meeting of the Commercial Undergraduate Society to take place on Monday, October 5th, in the McGill Union Grill Room at 8.15 p.m. At this party, Commerce Frosh will be able to meet some of the staff members of their Faculty, as well as get acquainted with the upper-classmen.

A new feature in Commercial Undergraduate activities, this get-together will take the form of an Open-House meeting. Various forms of entertainment and games are being planned. Music will be provided, and refreshments are going to be served. The meeting will be under the chairmanship of Don Delvin, elected President of the Society last year.

The Executive has indicated that such meetings for Commerce have long been delayed, and that steps will be taken to make them a regular part of Commercial activities in the future. As one of the officers put it, "this open-house meeting will provide some much needed spirit and enthusiasm to the incoming Frosh and will also be a means of reviving the 'oomph' in the upper-classmen."

The present Society President attended the summer school this year and as a result will be graduating next week. Ray Affleck, Secretary of the Society, has left the School of Commerce and has entered Architecture. As a result by-elections will be held to elect officers to these positions. The arrangements for these elections will be discussed at the meeting.

MESSAGE TO STUDENTS

To all of you, freshmen and upper classmen alike, I want to offer a word of welcome. Many of you are beginning your first year on the University campus, others have been hard at work on various jobs during the summer months, but I hope that you will speedily and comfortably settle down to the academic programme that lies ahead of us.

To a superficial observer, the appearance of the campus during the last few days might have seemed to differ but little from the opening of a normal peace-time session and that fact itself is a high tribute to the armed forces of the United Nations which defend us. Beneath the surface, moreover, there are many evidences of war's impact. We are continuously conscious of the fact that 2,700 of the sons of this University are on active service, as are many members of the teaching staff. Students in the Faculty of Medicine are pursuing an intensive course of study designed, at the urgent request of the Government, to advance the date of their qualification to practice, which degrees will be conferred at the Founder's Day Convocation on many students in the Faculty of Arts and Science who have worked throughout the summer with a similar aim in view.

These are but a few of the effects of this war upon university life, and I should like to impress upon each of you individually the fact that all of us are called upon to shoulder responsibilities over and above those that we would have assumed in times of peace. Canada's gigantic effort has drawn hundreds of thousands of men and women into the armed forces and war industry. There is today an acute shortage of manpower, and students are permitted to continue their academic courses only because the Government recognizes that, as a result of the education they are receiving, these men and women will be better qualified after graduation to play their part in the affairs of the nation.

As university students you have responsibilities that have increased as a result of the granting of that privilege. You are allowed to continue your academic course only as long as you study earnestly and obtain satisfactory marks. No man or woman who fails to demonstrate serious educational interests can be permitted to remain at the University. You are, moreover, required, in addition to all your normal academic work, to enroll for military training, in the case of men, or war-service training, in the case of women. Such training is designed to enable you at a later date to undertake your full share in the defence of Canada and the preservation of our people. The fact that you are enrolled for it is a testimony to the government, and to the community, of your serious desire to attend university as well as of your readiness to accept the responsibilities that I have already mentioned.

All of this implies that academic life has become more serious, but I do not want you to fall into the error of thinking that it has become more sombre. You are living through a great age in the history of the Dominion and of the western world, an age of opportunity and promise. There is much for you to do today, and during all the tomorrows of your life, but you will find willing companions and colleagues among the students and faculty of McGill University.

F. CYRIL JAMES

Staff of McGill Union Changed as Session Opens

The McGill Union has seen some recent changes. "Alec" Gibson, for many years custodian of the Tuck Shop, has retired, and into his place steps George Foster, formerly of the billiard room, which is now cared for by William Dempsey. The new cleaner, Frank MacDonald, inherits the position of "Jim" McMartin.

Mr. Foster, now presiding over his new switchboard, has held many miscellaneous positions between the time he emigrated to Canada from Reading, England, in 1923, before his coming to the Union in 1928. Commenting on his new position, Mr. Foster said, "Once I get to learn the switchboard, I'll like it as well as the billiard room."

Renovated Union Grill Now Open

Increased Use By Students Sought

The Union Grill Room has been thoroughly renovated during the summer and is now open to McGill students. Among the major changes are the putting down of new marble flooring, the lowering and sound-proofing of the ceiling, the installation of a snack-bar, and the repainting of the walls.

The Grill Room, according to a number of the Union House Committee, provides the students with a convenient rendezvous where they can eat between-lecture snacks in an informal atmosphere. The room houses a Nickelodeon to provide music for any couples who wish to dance, and there are numerous tables for card-playing.

The House Committee is also planning to install new window drapes and the flags of the United Nations to add colour to the room. These will be put up in the near future.

Library Staff Welcome Frosh

Conducted Tours Start Next Week For New Students

The staff of the Redpath Library has extended a welcome to the students of the University returning for this session and to those who are new this year. While the Library staff has necessarily been reduced, due to conditions resulting from the war, the members of the staff have expressed the hope that students will find in the Library the books and the assistance they need for a year of serious and profitable study.

In cases at the entrance there has been arranged an exhibit explaining the use of the catalogue and showing some of the bibliographical aids intended to save time in looking up references and collecting material for essays and reports. To supplement this, the practice of former years of providing conducted library tours for new students is being continued this year at hours which are posted in the Library. The staff has urged students to take advantage of these conveniences, which are intended to save time and facilitate use of the Library.

The reference and reserved shelves have been kept up to date, and important new acquisitions are being displayed on a special shelf. Recent books on world affairs have been placed on a new shelf for the use of those interested in the political, economic, and military aspects of the war.

Cooperation of all students in maintaining proper studying conditions in the Reading Room has been requested by those in charge of the Library. This co-operation includes observance of the universal rule of silence, since talking in the Reading Room and crowding and loud talking on the steps interfere with the proper use of the Library. The governors have prohibited smoking in any part of the building.

Freshette Tea in RVC Common Room, Freshmen Smoker in McGill Union To Inaugurate Reception Program

Freshmen Meet Tonight at 8.00

Frosh Will Hear University Plans For New Session

The Freshman Smoker will be held tonight at 8.15 at the McGill Union Ballroom.

Always one of the highlights of the reception program in the past the Smoker is expected to be even better this year according to a spokesman of the Freshman Reception Committee.

William Monroe, the President of the Union has been placed in charge, and the various features of this event, which is designed to acquaint Freshmen with extra-curricular activities at the University, have been arranged.

One feature, which has usually been considered important by the Freshmen in the past years, is the free soft drinks and free smokes. It has been announced that these will be passed out in sufficient quantities throughout the evening.

Plans reveal that there will be several speakers who will each address the gathering briefly. Stewart Willis, President of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society, William Munroe, President of the Union and Bob Tetrault, the Representative of the Inter-Faculty Council, are slated to give short talks.

To acquaint students with the athletics program, a sports representative will present a talk on its different aspects. The Editor-in-Chief of McGill Daily, will present a comprehensive short talk on the workings of the Campus newspaper. The War Council, which has been in existence since last fall, will have a representative at the meeting to explain the operations of this committee.

IVCF to Hold Freshman Tea

Reception And First Hymn Sing This Sunday

The annual Freshman Reception Tea of the McGill Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will be held in the Union Reading Room on Sunday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock. This tea is an integral part of the Freshman Reception Programme and is designed to bring Freshmen and Freshettes together in an informal atmosphere where they can be introduced to the Fellowship here at McGill. Students at the School for Teachers are also invited.

The speaker this year will be Mel Donald, National Secretary of the I.V.C.F. for Canada. He will tell of the work of the Fellowship and of the things with which it is concerned, things which, to use his own words, are "vital to the interests of all university students in the world today."

The Fall Programme of the McGill I.V.C.F. has now been prepared and will be available on Sunday afternoon.

The first in a regular series of Sunday evening Hymn-Sings will start at 8.00 P.M. Sunday. These take place at the I.V.C.F. Student House, 3445 Peel St. and all students are invited to attend. Mel Donald will speak again briefly on this occasion.

Collip Elected President Royal Society of Canada

It has been announced that James Bertram Collip who was the former Head of the Department of Biochemistry and director of the Research Institute of Endocrinology at McGill University was recently elected President of the Royal Society of Canada. While at the University of McGill he did a great deal of research work, as well as lecturing.

Book Exchange to Open Friday To Receive Books

The McGill Book Exchange will open its doors on October 2nd, 3rd and 5th between the hours of 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. to receive any textbooks which students may wish to sell. The sale of the books received will take place a few days later and the actual date will be announced in the "Daily."

The Book Exchange is an organization operated by the Students, and its office is located in the basement of the Union. The price of the books is set by the student selling the book and as far as purchasing them is concerned it is a matter of first come first served.

This year's Manager is Vaughan Marples, and he has requested that anyone interested in assisting him with the work should contact him.

Frosh Will Hold Dance in Union Tomorrow Night

New Classmates Meet Informally For First Time

By R. M.

The McGill Union will open its doors to the Class of '46 tomorrow night, for the first dance of the new session.

The singular-pantlegged frosh and the green-bedecked freshies will meet for the first time in the Union Ballroom. There will be various types of novelty dances to insure the newcomers may mix well, and meet their colleagues early in the week of festivities.

Dancing, which will carry on from 9 till 1 o'clock, may be sustained for lengthy periods by obtaining refreshments in the newly re-decorated Grill Room and Lunch Bar.

Nell Compton, a senior in Arts, will act as Master of Ceremonies, and will keep the participants entertained with a running account of the struggle.

One notable item is the fact that no admission will be charged, thus enabling the large number of Mortimer Snerds from Montreal and environs to sustain the negligible loss imposed by the encounter. Due to the fact that a large number (Continued from Page Three)

Rev. A. Cameron to Speak At S.C.M. Chapel Service

Next Sunday, at the Student Christian Movement's first prayer meeting of the year, the Reverend Angus Cameron will address the student body on the subject of "Dynamic Religion." His remarks will be particularly intended for the freshmen. Reverend Cameron is pastor of the Church of the Messiah here in Montreal. George M. Brewer, one of the best-known organists of the city, also connected with the Church of the Messiah, will contribute the music that will be included in the program. S.C.M. Prayer Meetings are held fortnightly during the College session.

Freshies Meet For First Event

Dr. M. V. Roscoe Will Address RVC Women Today

This afternoon at 4:00 p.m., every woman student at McGill is expected to come to the Freshie-Junior tea, which will be held in the Royal Victoria College Common Room. This tea is the first and main event in the Freshmen Reception, a system of events which has been traditional at McGill for nine years.

Each Freshette has been assigned to one of the members of second or third year of R.V.C., and with these companions they have been shown the campus, the buildings, and are growing accustomed to college life.

Freshettes will be welcomed to the University today by Dr. Muriel Roscoe, who is the Warden of R.V.C., by Ruth Hill, the President of the McGill Women's Union, and by Barbara Pitcairn, the President of the McGill Women Students' Athletics Association.

College seniors will bring their Freshettes to the tea; but they have been reminded that there may be other newcomers to the University who have not been assigned to any Junior. Even if these Juniors have not been assigned to Seniors, they are all expected at the tea.

In compliance with the laws set down by the Freshman Reception Committee, the green bow-ties must be worn at this event.

S.C.M. Conversat To be Held Soon

Will Feature Singing, Games, And Dancing

The S.C.M. Conversat, which is expected to be one of the biggest freshman events of the year, will be held in the McGill Union at 8:15 p.m. on Friday Oct. 9th. This party is open to the frosh only, who are requested to bring along their green bows and McGill Bibles for identification purposes.

The evening's festivities will commence with a round of games, during which everyone is sure to become acquainted. This will be followed by some community singing. Several humorous skits have been prepared and are to be presented sometime during the evening. After all these preliminaries, the main event of the evening will take place. Everyone will gather in the Ballroom and dance till one o'clock.

FRESHMEN !!

Freshmen are cordially invited to enrol themselves on the staff of the "Daily." The "Daily" Office is to be found in the basement of the McGill Union, and newcomers may register at any time in the day.

Tea and Smoker

For the fourth time under wartime conditions freshmen and freshettes will be initiated into social life at the university through the annual Freshette Tea and Freshmen Smoker. These events are not of the old traditional type designed to see how many freshmen can survive a "going through the mill;" rather their purpose is to outline the spheres of activity and phases of social life offered at the University.

The importance of attending these functions on the part of both male and female members of the Freshman class cannot be too greatly stressed, for it is only by attending conscientiously all freshmen reception activities that the student can gain insight into the true esprit de corps so synonymous with McGill.

A number of interesting events will follow in succession: The weiner roast and dance intended to give freshmen an idea of Union activities; the I.V.C.F. tea on Sunday gives students one phase of religious activity; the open houses designed particularly for pre-meds, pre-engineers, and commerce students; the Daily night which will explain to freshmen the workings of the Daily; and the S.C.M. Conversat which is a combination of skits, games, refreshments, and dancing.

In past years freshmen and freshettes have attended these functions in large numbers and have entered into the spirit of these functions in an admirable manner. It is hoped that this year's class will live up to the tradition of the Freshman Class at McGill.

New Grill Room

The Union House Committee has taken a step which will meet with the approval of all but the college die-hards. They have spent a considerable sum in renovating and modernizing the Union Grill Room. This room, in past years, was virtually unused and did not have at all the right atmosphere for informal student gatherings.

Much has undoubtedly been accomplished—and there has been considerable expenditure. The House Committee, however, has a very strong argument for the sanction of this expenditure, which was devoted largely to the new flooring. It is the fact that in previous years over two hundred dollars per annum has been spent in refinishing the hardwood floor—only to have this surface ruined in a week or two by heavy shoes tracking sand and snow. With the new marble floor, little, if any, expenditure need be made and consequently the renovations will pay for themselves in a few years.

Another argument in favour of these changes is one which only time—and the student body—will prove valid. The room is now a first-class place not only for snacks, but also for dances, banquets, and club meetings. It remains with the students to use their grill room.

A Pinch of Salt

By Patience

(Summertime, and the livin' is easy—sometimes. During the holidays most people either have another go at War and Peace, or what-ever ponderous tome they've always felt they should read, or they get jobs, often doing things deliberately different from their customary pursuits. Recollections of weeks spent in "dealing off the arm" by an Arts student follow.)

After reading a fully illustrated, suspiciously rosy article dealing with one of the luxury hotels (with swimming pool and nine hole golf course) along the St. Lawrence, I set out to inspect the place for myself—from the inside. The only inspecting I was to do, I soon discovered, was over the top of a gigantic tray which effectively blocked a view of anything further than the nearest piece of crockery.

This depressing beginning was soon remedied for, not content with employing one as a waitress, the management set one to work at bed-making, furniture-moving, and dish-washing. In fairness, however, I should mention that the hotel was not yet open and this work was ostensibly voluntary.

I have been sternly told to make this post-mortem amusing, and gritting my teeth, I shall attempt to exhaust what grim humour I can from a typical day. Theoretically it should run as follows:

Arising early in the morning (8.00 a.m.), one breakfasted at 8.30. At 7.00, side work—a gentle term for dusting tables, removing spilled food, polishing glasses and wiping the lips of the ketchup and HP bottles, all with the same filthy rag. At 7.30 the dining room officially opened and one served a few up-and-doing bachelors who were fortifying themselves for a day of fishing. By 10.00, one was off duty until the dining-room reopened for lunch at noon, and again after lunch, and finally after dinner.

The actual, as opposed to the ideal schedule was roughly thus:

8.00: loud ringing of alarm clock which is immediately shut off.

8.15: a few conscientious souls made disturbing noises attendant upon getting up.

8.30: one debates the ethical points for and against claiming sudden illness and remaining in bed.

8.50: one leaps up in a wide-awake fury and searches for hair-net, apron and various other necessities of a waitress' life.

7.30: arrival in the dining-room to find one's bachelors looking pinched for lack of nourishment.

8.32: one is fired for (a) being late, (b) eating food designated for the dining room.

8.35: one is re-hired, the labor shortage being what it is.

9.30: dining-room closes.

9.45: ten guests enter howling for breakfast.

The morning schedule multiplied by three sums up the day. The only difference between the three meals was that day eventually became night, and the meals got progressively involved as breakfast became lunch, which in turn became dinner.

In spite of the fact that our days sound a little dreary, we spent most of them in helpless laughter, probably a form of hysteria induced by fatigue. One day was sadiistically brightened when a busboy dropped a butter pat in a guest's hair. A joke which rocked the kitchen to its foundation is this: one of the room service waiters, a charming mercurial creature with the face of a cherub, nursed a great loathing for a guest. On the day of his emancipation he served her an egg for breakfast. With more guilt than anyone thought it possible for him to possess, he had allowed the egg to ferment in his room for two months.

For the financial side of waiting, I will say little. Doubtless it is more lucrative to slave for unpleasant people who tip well, but give me the charming person on a budget that excludes gratuities. With this philosophy, however, it is impossible to accumulate quantities of crackling, clinking 'mint sauce.' Nevertheless, if one may be allowed a remark of dubious profundity and brilliance, money isn't everything?

May I take your order?

Hall Remarks

By de L'Eveque

A voice on the phone, a "What about a column for Thursday?" a suggestion: "Why not on Return to Douglas Hall?" a brief "Thanks. Have it in for first copy" and it's all over. You have given your word to a lady (does a lady editor count?) and you can't back down; on the other hand you are miserably certain that it will be terrible, that any or all of it will qualify for one of the New Yorker departments of ridicule and that its tedium will be something that even your best friend will tell you—in no uncertain terms.

Return to Douglas Hall? Indeed. How does she know I was ever away? If I didn't keep a diary I wouldn't know it myself. A few days in May, two weeks' camp in June and—back to Douglas Hall, where I have been ever since, now entering on the second year of a practically unbroken sojourn. As for the Meds, they have become encrusted here, those in first year looking forward to a span of four years with about three-months absence in the whole period. Dull? Well, some of the time, maybe. But for six weeks in July and August we were hosts to the French Summer School—a mixed group of about ten men, ten professors and forty odd (or is it more tactful to hyphenate?) ladies, of ages from sixteen to sixty.

Relations were, for the most part, cordial. More so, perhaps, with the sixteens than with the sixties, mais que voulez-vous? Some feuding there undoubtedly was. One crack that was taken in rather bad part was a word of caution posted anonymously on the notice board at the time when General de Gaulle changed the name of his forces: "Attention, Messieurs les Meds. Les Francaises libres sont maintenant les Francaises combattantes."

Due to the labor shortage, students acted as porters, switchboard operators and kitchen staff, a policy which is being continued through the winter. Complaints were (naturally) numerous, but a good many apologies have been tendered since R.V.C. re-opened and a standard of comparison established. A ten-ring wait plus an eleven-minute silence, followed by: "How did you say that was spell?" (my own experience last night) surpasses everything that has been perpetrated by Douglas Hall's "enthusiastic amateurs." True, their errors were often of malicious intent, as for instance the old standby—ringing two girls and two boys, putting them all on the same line and taking down the conversation in shorthand.

A strange sight was seen one August afternoon. The student-porters who were supposed to be cutting the lawn obviously hadn't their hearts in the job. The Warden, watching with mounting impatience the ever-slower slouch of the mower, finally took over to show how the job should be done. The monotonous up and down, up and down, gradually had its effect and before long the demonstrator was in a semi-comatose condition himself, and following the machine to and fro, under the critical eyes of his own employees, he had practically cut the whole lawn before he realised that he was infringing on Union regulations.

Unfortunately, some of the best incidents of the summer have had to be suppressed for this column is no more anonymous than 'Mr. Bullfinch' and I had hoped to be in condition to write a sequel. In the words of the bard:

"He who writes and runs away
Lives to write another day."

Skirting Around With Suzie

Just a Greeting...

Whoops, here we are to start off a brand new session, and right behind us in our good wishes is Ruth Hill, the Women's Union president. She's welcoming her coeds back, to offset the greater demands of this year, with new things to be asked of everybody and more places to be filled, she is planning concerts, exhibits and lectures. Sweeping in on this, is her idea for two new notice boards. Watch for the red and white-banded sections on the main boards in R.V.C. and the women's common room in the Arts Building. There'll be shining hints on how you and the current b.f. (if any such wolves are going to take this hint) can spend your relaxing hours. To some people, Rachmaninoff's Piano Concerto is better than a moon, and you never can tell what the ballet will do to others on a cloudy night.

Look At What's Cooking...

There's new glamor in R.V.C., now with the changes made around... the morgue is cheery and comfortable, to receive the waiting (r)ends but, with the use of the front stairs, there'll be plenty of calls for first aid as we predict. The breathless way a coed dashes into R.V.C. to change into red shorts is no joke, and what with slippery ice and snowballing engineers, it'll take more than a first-aid voucher to keep the coeds in one piece. At least they can fall into the common room and brighten up their present sufferings with the Van Gogh's and Renoirs already up.

Freshettes! ? !

Tomato juice and sandwiches will start the freshettes and juniors off to a healthy start this afternoon at the freshette tea. There'll be enough vitamins all over the place for people to rise from the dead, and anyway as someone remarked philosophically, "Did tea ever come in McGill colors?" So that red is just the way to bring the Freshettes up to date. And speaking of such people, the superior seniors, the so-important juniors and even the sophisticated sophs are objecting to the brash way the Freshettes are acting. This year's crop have the nerve to go so far as to smile at our Radio Mech. in Blue, without so much as an introduction, and if they don't scorn all efforts at breaking in, they look up or down at their betters with a smile of whimsy and pity. Maybe they'll take a few hints from an old bird, and go to every affair in their honor with a few joyous steps, and not wearing sweaters and skirts all the time. A dress is a dress, and the fun of the weiner roast can stand one.

No Margaret Carries?

"Hey Dorothy Dix, why not open a booth for us?" was the plaintive wail of two upperclassmen, as they bounced after one of three heroines of R.V.C. Jean Mitchell, Irene Elger and Mary Sidorchu, who give advice to registering coeds. At one time, they were helping over fifty on the way to general knowledge and the prospect of black coffee next May.

Dear Editor:

It is my desire to correspond with a student from McGill University. Perhaps you can help me in the matter.

I am fond of nursing, music, sports in general, also skating and books, of which I have a large collection. I am twenty (20) years of age.

Hoping for a favourable reply.

Yours faithfully,

—Newspaper account of naval action.

Neither flinching nor turning aside, but splendidly steaming, straight to the sound of the guns that had only one meaning, so that the flock which they guarded might live to the last, Sailed they to instant Death in the Cordite's dissolving blast—

Swift Death in the whistling shrapnel, to die with the dying day, Or slow on the heaving raft where the wounds are seared by the flying spray.

The seamen stood by their helpless guns while the bracketing salvos fell;

"What's to be done," said they, "if we're found by one true shell, For the magazines will go, and the war-heads will blow out our side."

But the Captain kept his bridge, and laughed, and spoke to the men in his pride:

"Would you have me strike and run where better men have gone unafraid?"

You ask me what's to be done— fight till she sinks!" he said, And straitly they faced his furious fire, so that the world might know

He only dies in shame who bends to the shameless foe.

They died, for they would not yield to the godless Hun this day,

But to them be Honor and Peace, for valiant, thus have they shown us the way.

—Beresford.

According to the legend, a fire was raging in a de luxe apartment building. With a cry of despair frantic mother broke through ring of onlookers.

"Oh, fireman," she implored, "save my precious daughter."

"Lady," replied the smoke-eat "I'm a fireman, not an evangelist."

Principal James' Tribute

to

from Montreal Star, Sept., 29, 1942.

Chief Justice Greenshields' position in the hearts of all who knew him owed less to the brilliance of his long legal career on the bench and with the Law Faculty of McGill University, eminent as that was, than to the deep quality of his humanism, the merry twinkle in his eye and the strength of his personality. These qualities have endeared him to successive generations of friends, so that the undergraduates now at Bishop's College have developed an affection for him as marked as that of his own contemporaries. All of these many friends felt a sense of personal loss, and we shall be poorer because he will no longer jauntily help us to enjoy the fullness of each new day.

Fitness Keynotes McGill Athletic Policy

Faculty Softball Promises Action

For the first time in three years, a strictly Inter-Faculty Softball League is to be organized. Since the advent of the McGill Reserve Training Battalion, competition has been on an Intercompany basis. Due to the time necessary for completion of Intercompany organization, the short season available for outdoor football was almost past before the league got underway. It is on this account that softball will revert to the Inter-Faculty system this coming year.

Bill Braye of Med. II, who has been reappointed Softball Manager for the 1942-43 season, is convinced that the new arrangement will give a real impetus to this popular game. To spur on the Engineers, Arts, Science, Commerce and any others who think they can play softball, Jim Tyhurst, softball mogul for the Meds, announces that he will be able to field two or three teams from his faculty alone which will give anybody a run for their money.

Those interested in playing, are to sign the lists posted in the various buildings. A few tryouts will be held in order to give the faculties a chance to choose their team or teams. Notices of these will appear in subsequent issues of the Daily. If there are sufficient men in any one year to make a complete team, who wish to enter as such, they should phone the Athletic Office at once.

The tryouts will be held during the week of October 5th, between 4.00 and 6.00 p.m. on the Upper Field adjacent to Douglas Hall. The Inter-Faculty Softball League proper will commence on October 12th.

Official Figures Show Need Of Intense Physical Education

McGill Gymnasium Presents Adequate Facilities for Individual and Group Training

The official categorization of Canada's man-power discloses the appalling and shameful fact that, of 217,588 men examined for the services up to October 2, 1941, approximately 50 per cent. were rejected from class "A" as unfit for military service.

There appears to be no justifiable reason to expect that those who will be required for service in the future, will be any better fitted to serve when they are called upon.

It is realized, through irrefutable scientific evidence, that great improvement in the health and fitness of our young people can be effected through a scientific program of physical education.

The cost of the Air Training Plan during 1941 was $225,000,000. The cost of sickness in Canada for the same period was $250,000,000. Every day there are 50,000 Canadian workers absent from their jobs through sickness, and 50 per cent. of this illness could be prevented if our known health laws were observed.

Dr. C. D. Selby of the General Motors Corporation, in a recent address before the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in Toronto, stated that "During the coming year, one industrial worker out of every ten will be absent from work for forty days on account of illness." He stated further, that most of this loss would be from causes other than those directly related to occupation.

The report of a special investigating committee published in a recent issue of the British Medical Journal, drew attention to the fact that "Industry in Britain loses through the illness of workers 31,000,000 weeks work yearly, while the loss from accidents in terms of money is estimated at over $150,000,000 annually." The report added that there should be a much greater emphasis laid upon the preventative aspects of industrial medicine.

In the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium with its three playing fields and eight tennis courts, McGill University has one of the best equipped and staffed Physical Education plants in North America. The heavy demands upon space and facilities for military training do not permit for as many physical and recreational activities as would otherwise be possible. There are, however, opportunities for every student at McGill, if he is interested in his well-being, to become fit by participating in voluntary sport. There are during the session, twenty-two different activities promoted in which a student can build himself up so that when the occasion demands, he will be ready to do his maximum.

Are you doing all you can to become fit and keep fit? The Students' Athletic Council and the Staff of the Department of Physical Education are ready to help you plan your program to keep "fighting fit."

Get Fit — Keep Fit

Every student is urged to participate in some form of exercise throughout the session. The excellent facilities which are available at the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium-Armoury, the McGill Campus, Tennis Courts, and at the Upper and Lower Fields at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium furnish splendid opportunities for an extensive program of activities.

"These are days of great national emergency and every student should do his utmost to increase and maintain a high degree of physical fitness."

The Students' Athletics Council propose this year a continuation of last session's highly successful intercompany program with provision for all students of the McGill C.O.T.C. as well as others not so affiliated.

HARRIERS

The Inter-Company Harrier Meet will be run over a 3½ mile course during the early part of November. Every man who finishes the course will score a point for his Company, and the first 15 who finish will score additional points.

TRACK

Track and Harrier practice is being held at the Stadium daily from 4 to 6 p.m. The Inter-Company Track Meet will be held on Sports Day, October 16th. There are fourteen events and, as the first ten to finish in each event will score, a large team will be needed by each company.

"WHY SHOULD WE FIGHT FOR BRITAIN?"

"Why should we fight?" he asked me. "Cause Britain is at war? Why are they fighting now, dad? What does it mean to you, dad, to be a babe and mums and me? The Germans won't come here from away across the sea, So why should you go there, dad, and leave us here to cry? Is it 'cause Britain owns us? Is that the reason why?" His eyes look widely at me, I tightly hold my son, And this is how I answer his questions one by one.

"We fight when Britain calls us for in her sacred keep The ashes of our fathers lie in her soil—asleep. And many times for Britain they fought that she'd be free, And they are part of Britain, and so, my son, are we. And some may pass her by, lad, and some may scorn her hand, But we must be forever a part of that far land. For everything we have, son, that's good, and fine, and just, Was washed in British blood and given to us in trust.

"And we must keep that trust, son, against the force of greed, And fight beside Old Britain whenever she's in need.

Meet to be Run On Intercompany Basis

The 70th Annual McGill Track meet will be held on October 16, this year, and the events will begin at 2 p.m. The first ten men who finish in each event will score points for their company. In this way it is felt that even those who, are out of condition will have a chance to place in the final standing.

Although standards have dropped considerably due to the lack of incentive, since Intercollegiate competition was suspended, a few conditioning practices would not be out of place.

The winning times for last year follow, but it should be understood that as 10 place in each event, it is not necessary to approach these standards in order to score valuable points for your company.

COLLEGE ATHLETICS:

Welcome freshman to McGill University! No doubt you have all heard of the great McGill football and hockey teams, of the spirit, hustle and bustle of college games, or of the time when McGill beat Queens, Toronto, or Western. Yes, those were the days, but today things are different. The college authorities have ruled that intercollegiate sports be suspended for the duration, and that has been the situation for the past two years. But that is no reason for sports to cease at McGill. We now have intra-mural sports, which is the formation of leagues within the university, in football, hockey, basketball, tennis, baseball, etc. That's the opportunity McGill gives every student today, so get out there you freshmen and play!

A point worth noting is this: To be willing and anxious to learn to play the game is enough to merit a position on a team. All that coach Doug Kerr ever asks of his football teams is that they fight hard and keep trying, and that's the way it is in all college athletics. As you will all no doubt hear at your smoker tonight, all men interested in playing football are asked to come out to practices which will start very soon. All equipment is supplied by the university, so all you football players keep your eyes open for the date of the first practice.

ABOUT THE WORLD SERIES:

For eight and two thirds innings the St. Louis fans just sat and watched the New York Yankees have everything their own way, but when catcher Walker Cooper smacked a clean single to start off one of the biggest ninth rallies in world series history, hell broke loose in St. Louis. Up until that part of the ball game, "Red" Ruffing had been pitching beautiful ball, having fanned eight batters and not allowed a run to cross the plate. At that time, the only man to get a hit off of Ruffing was captain Terry Moore, and most people thought that the big Yankee star was going to tie the world series record of a one hitter.

Following Cooper's single came a long triple by shortstop Marty Marion which brought the fans to their feet hollering, the hit having scored both Cooper and Sanders, who had pinch-hit. Ken O'Dea, another pinch-hitter, then belted another neat single and Marion came home with the third run for St. Louis. Up to the plate next stepped Brown, who singled and the crowd went haywire as O'Dea raced to second, and eventually scored on successive hits by Moore and Slaughter, making it four runs for the Cards, and leaving the bases loaded. It was then that Stan Musial was put out at first on an easily hit ground ball and the ball game was over.

The final score was New York Yankees 7, St. Louis Cardinals 4. The Yankees made eleven hits and committed no errors, while the Cards made only seven hits and committed four errors, both teams having left nine men on base. And so "Red" Ruffing won his first victory of the 1942 world series, and proved to many people that he can still pitch at 37 years of age, even though he was knocked out of the box in the last inning. Credit is also due to the Card's ace pitcher Mort Cooper who pitched a whale of a game until he was relieved. It was a great game, and the better team won, but the series is far from over.

While baseball is still in the air, here is a little poem you might be interested in which concerns the once supreme Brooklyn Dodgers and the pennant winning St. Louis Cardinals. We bumped into it quite accidentally, and would like to pass it on to you.

New Professors Come to McGill

Kierstead and Higgins Lecture
In Economics

Two new professors, Dr. Benjamin H. Higgins and Prof. Burton S. Kierstead, who will be Bronfman professors of economics and political theory have arrived to take up their duties in the School of Commerce.

Dr. Higgins was born in London, Ontario. He obtained his B.A. degree in honors economics and political science at the University of Western Ontario. Active in athletics, he also was on the editorial staff of the college newspaper, was a member in the students' orchestra, and was president of the Players' Club.

In 1933, Dr. Higgins got his M.Sc. in economics from the University of London. He returned to Canada where he first taught at the University of Saskatchewan, then later went to the United States where he taught at the University of Minnesota. In 1940, Dr. Higgins was granted the Ph.D. degree from Harvard, where he was a Littauer fellow. In 1941, while assistant professor of economics at the University of New Hampshire, he was appointed special assistant to the administrator of the United States Housing Authority. Later in 1941, Dr. Higgins became principal economist of the Federal Works Agency and economics consultant of the Public Work Reserve in regard to the economic planning of public work.

Prof. Kierstead is a former Rhodes scholar. On graduating from the University of New Brunswick in 1928, with honors in economics and English, he spent three years at Oxford where he obtained a B.A. degree. He returned to Canada and taught economics and political science at the University of New Brunswick.

Prof. Kierstead spent the academic session 1937-38 as a visiting professor at the University of Arizona. During the session of 1940-41 he was at Dalhousie University where he was concerned with the institute of public affairs war research program. Prof. Kierstead is still connected with this work, which is financed by the Rockefeller Foundation and which deals with the economic effects of the war upon the Maritime Provinces.

Dr. Kierstead's publications include some works of fiction and numerous articles, his latest book being "Essentials of Price Theory" which was published last May. He is a member of the Canadian Social Science Research Council, the American Economic Association, the Canadian Institute of International Affairs, and the Canadian Association of Economics and Political Science.

Convocation Ball Is Next Tuesday

Blake Sewell
And Orchestra
To Be Featured

The Convocation Ball, which is to be held next Tuesday evening to celebrate the graduation of fourth year students who attended the Summer Session, is open to all undergraduates. Blake Sewell and his orchestra will be in attendance at the formal, which is being held in the Union Ballroom.

Patrons for the dance were announced last night. They are Principal and Mrs. James, Dr. Roscoe, Dean and Mrs. MacMillan, and Professor Newton. In keeping with the war-time atmosphere of the accelerated course, Convocation activities have been reduced to a minimum, the Ball being the only social affair in honour of the recent graduates.

The dance will get under way at 10 p.m., and festivities are to continue until 3 a.m. A buffet supper will be served in the grill room during the course of the evening. Tickets for the Ball may be obtained at any time from Bill Gentleman. The price is $4.00 per couple. Corsages will be on sale at the dance, and all profits made from them and from the Ball itself will be given to war charities.

New Dean of Graduate Studies Is Versatile

Holds Several Honorary Positions
In Government
by C. J. L.

Holding the position of dean of one of the most important faculties of the university, and being the writer of mystery stories, seems to be a rather strange combination of talents, but such is actually the case.

The newly appointed dean, of the Faculty of Graduate studies and Research, Dr. David L. Thompson, is the possessor of these rather "incongruous" talents. For besides being dean, Dr. Thompson is also the author of the best-seller mystery novel, "Murder in the Laboratory." His work is published under the pen-name of Thos. L. Davidson.

Dr. Thompson is of Scottish extraction, having been born in the land of the Thistle some forty-one years back. His patriotic nature urged him to confine his preliminary academic career to the land of his birth, and he received his B.A. and B.Sc., from the University of Aberdeen. The new dean's University career subsequently took in a few countries. He studied in France, Switzerland and Austria and he received his Ph.D. in Biochemistry from Cambridge University.

Dean Thompson's career at McGill was one of rapid promotion. His first position was as lecturer in Biochemistry in 1928. In 1937 he was appointed to a full time professorship, and in 1942 Dr. Thompson was appointed chairman of the Department. He also held the position of Chairman of the Biological Sciences Group till his appointment to his newly acquired position of Dean in the Faculty of Graduate studies and Research.

From an extra-curricular point-of-view, Dr. Thompson has not remained inactive. He has done much research in Endocrinology and more recently in the field of Nutrition.

Dr. Thompson has recently been asked to sit in an advisory capacity in three Departments of the Dominion Government, The Ministry of Pensions and National Health, The Ministry of National Defence and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. He is also Vice-President of the Nutrition Committee of the Province of Quebec.

Engineers Hold Open House

Dean O'Neill
Will Address
New Students

The Engineering Undergraduate Society has announced that an open house will be held at the Engineering building Monday, October 5, at 8.30. A welcome will be extended to the Freshmen by Dean O'Neill. Tours conducted by upper classmen will acquaint the visitors with the various branches of Engineering, and laboratory demonstrations will be given.

In the Thermodynamics Lab, demonstrations in Mechanical Engineering will be given in the form of the operation of an air compressor, showing the method of taking indicator cards. In the gas engine lab, test runs on gas engines will be given as well as a machine shop in operation with a production line in miniature showing lathes, milling machines, shapers, and other machines.

In the Electrical Engineering department, a demonstration will be given showing wave frequency forms in the cathode ray oscilloscope. Here the visitors will see the effect of a high voltage discharge on an insulator.

In the Civil Engineering Department's Strength of Material and Lab, metals will be shown under torsion, tension, and compression. The compression strength of a concrete cylinder will also be shown. The Architectural focus room will also be examined.

Demonstrations will also be given in Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering. Refreshments will be served at the end of the evening.

Those in charge express the hope that many upper classmen as well as Freshmen will attend.

Principal James
Will Address
Society Members

The annual meeting of the Graduates' Society of McGill University will be held next Tuesday evening at 8.15 p.m. in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. New officers of the Society will be installed at this time and Dr. F. Cyril James will address the members.

This meeting, which is being held on Founder's Day, is the only formal recognition of James McGill's birthday to take place this year. Usually the graduates hold a formal dinner to mark the occasion.

The installation of the new officers will be presided over by G. McL. Pitts. The new president of the Society is Fraser S. Keith, well-known industrialist-engineer; James B. Woodyat is the incoming first vice-president, and F. J. Cunningham the new honorary secretary. The new members of the executive are R. E. Stavert and Dr. A. R. M. MacLean.

Those wishing to participate in any of these sports may report to the manager or the coach on the field.

The present league will be made up of teams formed from the R.A.C. at Dorval. The Australians from the wireless school, and perhaps a team made up of New Zealanders. A team from the Lachine Manning Depot may enter the league. The Redmen are to play their first game on Saturday with the opposing team yet to be chosen.

The first practise is to take place to-day at 5 p.m. on the upper field. The following men are asked to show up. Fryhurst, Tucker, Wisom, Fraser, Frisch, Beausaude, Montgomery, Covo, Miller, Hall, Avery, Brewerton, Bishop, Ogilvie, Knox. All others who feel that they would like to learn a little more about the game are invited to report.

TENNIS. The R.V.C. Tennis tourney will get under way tomorrow. All entries must be in today, at the Phys. Ed. bulletin board.

COED TOURNAMENT

This year's Coed Tennis Tournament is scheduled to get underway this Friday, October 2nd. All those who are considering entering must sign up today on the Physical Education bulletin board. Last year's champion Claire Renshaw is expected to defend her laurels though Barbara Mercer, runner-up, has since been graduated and as a result will be missing from this season's competition.

Training Begins Oct. 13

3. The University Air Training Squadron
Particulars of the C.O.T.C. Wings are given below:
6. Attendance at Parades
Students who fail to attend the required number of parades will be suspended from the University.
7. National War Service

The Government is willing to defer for a year the call-up of undergraduates in good standing who are taking their military training at the University. Undergraduates "on probation" or undergraduates repeating a year are not "in good standing." The deferment of call-up applies only to undergraduate students.

8. Regulations for Students Called Up

If a student is called up under the National War Services Act he is to take his notice of call at once to the Registrar's Office.

9. Note

These regulations are subject to change. Students should keep themselves informed of any such changes.

If a student is in doubt about the interpretation of these regulations he should consult his company commander, his Dean, the C.O.T.C. Orderly Room, or the Registrars Office.

C.O.T.C. 1942-1943

The C.O.T.C. will be organized in wings:

A Wing—Pre Officer Training
B Wing—Basic Training
C Wing—District Courses

Officers in Charge:

A Wing—Major G. F. Savage
B Wing—Major J. C. Hope
C Wing—Major G. F. Savage

All male students, without exception, will report to the Orderly Room of the C.O.T.C. within 48 hours of time of registration for information and instruction with regard to details of military and other services required and all will be enrolled in B Wing.

1) Students who successfully completed "A" Syllabus in 1942 will be immediately posted to A Wing for pre-officer training.

2) Students who have completed two years of Basic training will, if satisfactory to the Selection Board of the C.O.T.C. to be posted later to A Wing pre-officer training.

3) Students who have completed one year of Basic training and who are planning to go on Active Service in the Army in the spring of 1943 may apply for admission to the pre-officer course. If satisfactory to the C.O.T.C. Selection Board these candidates will be posted later to A Wing.

4) Students who wish to take R.C.A.F. training may apply for admission to courses either for Air or Ground Crew. If satisfactory to the R.C.A.F. Boards, these candidates will be posted later to V.A.T.C.

5) All students not posted in 1, 2, 3, 4, will remain on strength of B Wing.

6) All candidates for A Wing must pass the Army Intelligence and Aptitude Tests and the Active Service Medical Examination.

This course in pre-officer training has been designed to prepare candidates for admission to Officer training Centres at either Brockville or Gordon Head. The training will take place on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 8 to 10 p.m. and on certain specified weekends, starting 14 October, 1942. It will consist of a certain number of lectures and a great deal of practical work in such subjects as Map Reading, Drill, Weapon Training, Fieldcraft, Battle Drill, Section Leading and Toughening.

The candidates who successfully carry out this course and who wish to go on Active Service upon completion of their college year will be enlisted then in the Active Army and will be posted as cadets either directly to O.T.C.'s or to Training Centre where they will continue their training until openings occur at O.T.C.'s.

B Wing. The training which will be carried out by B Wing C.O.T.C. will comprise those subjects required to be taught to recruits for the Canadian Army in the first eight weeks at a Basic Training Centre. The syllabus for students with no previous military training will, during the academic year and at Camp, cover the first four weeks of the Standard Syllabus for Basic training. This group will be known as B-1 wing.

Those who trained with the M.R.T.B. during the academic year 1942-2 will cover the second four weeks of the Standard Syllabus, and will be known as B-2 wing.

"Previous military training" will be judged on individual merit, and while students who show ability and knowledge may be moved to B-2 wing, all freshmen will start in B-1.

hours a year, and normally the courses will be covered in two years. More advanced training may be provided for students who remain at the University after completing the two years.

4. Air-Crew Training.

Air-crew training will be similar to that of an Initial Training School.

Those who complete the air-crew training and subsequently enlist in the R.C.A.F. will go to a manning depot for a period of approximately three or four weeks required for documentation and inoculations. They will then go to an Initial Training School for about ten days for special medical tests and Link training. After this they will go straight to Elementary Flying Training School. The University course will thus cut about four-and-a-half to five months from the regular Air Force training.

Basic ground training will be similar to that of the Administrative Course for R.C.A.F. officers but with some additions.

5. Basic Ground Training.

Courses will be provided for students in Medicine, Engineering, and pure Science who may on graduation seek appointment in the R.C.A.F. Medical, Radio, Signals, Air Navigation, Aeronautical Engineering, or Armament Branches.

Discipline

Cadets of the U.A.T.C. will be under R.C.A.F. control and subject to Air Force Law while on parade.

Uniform

R.C.A.F. uniform with a special U.A.T.C. insignia will be issued. The clothing will remain the property of the R.C.A.F.

Pay

All ranks of the U.A.T.C. are entitled to pay and allowance up to a total of 40 days per annum.

This notice is passed upon the Department of National Defence Air Service memorandum 215-1, 21st of August, 1942.

T. H. MATTHEWS,
Secretary of the University
Committee on Military Instruction.

IN THE FOUNTAIN PEN SECTION

You'll find a large selection of Parker and Waterman sets in plenty of distinctive designs. It's important that you get a good-working, smooth-writing pen at the beginning of the year. Notes have to remain legible till exam time, you know. And it's no fun trying to keep up with a prof with a balky pen. Bring in your old pen or pencil if you're having trouble and we'll repair it.
